TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL PERFECTED

Charleston Township, Tioga County, Abolishes Sixteen Small Schools.

PUPILS CONVEYED TO MODERN CENTRAL SCHOOL

Plans Fully Carried Out After Visit to Bradford County Where Work in Township High Schools Was Investigated—Important Matter.

Charleston township, which adjoins Wellsboro, the county seat of Tioga county, on the east, one of the largest, most prosperous and progressive farming communities in Northern Pennsylvania, has opened its first township high school. It was an event of far-reaching importance.

The consolidation of the schools of this township has been brought about only after a thorough investigation into the working of the plan in other places. The school directors of Charleston township, made a visit to Bradford county and inspected every high school, giving the township high schools the closest scrutiny. Then they went back and laid their plans and laid them well, and now they have a finely built, well-equipped high school in the center of a purely agricultural community, for the use of children who would be otherwise denied a higher education than the district school could afford without the severance of home ties and great additional expense, two matters of prime importance.

Attendance at many country schools has dwinded to six or eight pupils in a district, where a quarter of a century ago the attendance was from twenty-five to forty, while the expense for teacher and fuel at each schoolhouse has materially increased.

Added to this has been a loss of interest in study among pupils themselves, due to the lack of emulation. It is easy for one leading spirit to dominate a school of six or eight, whereas in a more largely attended school the stimulus of competition leads to greater effort on the part of each pupil and a consequent higher average in the standing of the majority. Educators are agreed on this point.

Go-Ahead Spirit Prevails.

To meet these conditions, school boards, teachers and thoughtful parents have deemed it wise to combine in one well-equipped, graded school a number of isolated small country schools and to transport the pupils from their homes to the central schools, with very gratifying results in a majority of cases.

It was under such circumstances that the board of school directors of Charleston township a year ago called the citizens and taxpayers together and obtained their co-operation and consent to erect and equip such a building building at a central point of a large and populous section, about four miles from Wellsboro, and sixteen schools are now consolidated into one well-equipped grade building of six rooms.

There are three grade rooms on the first floor, with a capacity of forty-four in the primary room, forty in the second grade and thirty-eight in the third. On the second floor a high-school department, seating 105, and two recitation rooms, one accommodating seventeen and the other twenty-one.

The heating and ventilating system is by three furnaces, with fan and gasoline engine to control the supply of air at all times. Under the state law the minimum amount of air allowed is thirty cubic feet to each person in the building, and the apparatus is capable of supplying this without forcing when the building is occupied to its full capacity.

Many Modern Appliances.

Each room is provided with a system of lockers for wraps, and the ventilation of the building is carried o through these lockers; so that, however wet the wraps may be when put therein, they will be thoroughly ventilated and dried in a short time, and safe to put on when needed.

A similar system of lockers has been used in the grade schools of Chicago for some years, and is said to give excellent results, especially in the lower grades, where the teachers must see that each little one gets his or her wraps on properly. The thorough ventilation of these lockers permits no odors from the clothing to escape into the rooms, and materially assists in preventing the spread of contagious diseases.

On the first floor, in a convenient location, is a sanitary drinking fountain [illegible] to drink one has but to place his mouth over a small jet of water spurting gently up about three inches. This does away entirely with drinking cups and also aids in the prevention of contagious diseases, frequently communicated heretofore by the common drinking cup.

The foundation and main division walls are of concrete, and the exterior walls inclosing the building are of hollow terra cotta blocks, veneered with brick. The facing is of Corning red brick, laid in red mortar and trimmed with gray brick quoins, and the windowsills and caps are of reinforced concrete.

The cornice is of gray brick and the wood is painted to match the gray brick of the trim. The roof is nearly flat and covered with a high-grade felt and slag roofing that will last many years. Studded walls and ceilings are lathed with metal lath and plastered with fiber plaster, so that the building is as near incombustible as it is possible to make it, with ordinary timber construction.

Floors are of maple and each room has ample blackboards, with a special form of sanitary chalk tray to prevent spreading of chalk dust.

TenCollecting Wagons Make Rounds.

The question of transportation of the pupils from these sixteen schools to the central school was a problem for the directors, who solved it by dividing the territory to be covered into ten routes and letting the work of each to a competitive bidder. The prices vary from $25 to $50 per route per month according to the distance.

The drivers furnish the teams and harness. The township made a contract with the Wellsboro Carriage Company for ten handsome wagons, each capable of carrying from sixteen to twenty pupils, according to age. These are covered vehicles, upholstered in brown corduroy with mica curtains, black painted bodies, yellow gearing striped with brown and bearing in gold letters on each side "Charleston School Wagon." Each equipped with a pair of bobsleds and the contract price was $215 apiece.

The faculty of the new school consists of the following: Principal, Lynn Soper; Misses Helen Jones, Florence Doumaux, Blanche Fulle Edna Lewis and Ada English.

Plans for the building were made by Otis Dockstader, architect, of Elmira, who is a native of Charleston and a specialist in school buildings. The general contractor was C. T. Spaulding, of Elmira, another Tioga county boy, who won the work on competitive bid. The cost of the building was approximately $14,000.

School directors who served during the construction were: F. C. Moore, president; P. C. Van Horn, secretary; David Warren, T. J. Davies, T. M. Lewis, L. T. Wilkins, Joseph Emberger, H. A. Corwin and W. S. Neal. With these names should be mentioned those of E. J. Fleitz and C. N. Austin, of the citizen's committee, who took active part in the work.

The building is well constructed, and durable, the arrangement is of the best, and a credit to the township, the board of school directors and to all who were in any way connected with its planning and construction.

Within a few years it is expected there will be many such schools in Bradford county.

HAS LONG RECORD.

Dr. H. D. LaPlant of Sayre, Has Been in Attendance at Many Cases.

This is what the Sayre Times-Record says of a physician of that place who has relatives and many friends in Towanda:

"Dr. H. D. LaPlant of Sayre has been the physician in attendance at the advent of 1,516 children and he says that he thinks it is now time he quit medicine.

"Last night a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mullaley, Stevenson street and Dr. LaPlant was the physician summoned. With that birth the work of Dr. LaPlant, who has achieved local fame for his handling of such cases comes to an end. He has practiced in Sayre for eighteen and a half years and during that time he has ushered 1,369 children into the world. The 47 other births were during the one year he practiced medicine in Philadelphia. It is probable that no physician in this part of the country has such a record as that of Dr. LaPlant. He expects to leave Sayre soon for Florida and is planning to spend the remainder of his life in the woods and on the streams for he is an ardent sportsman."

Peary's Caboose Departs.

Says the Susquehanna Transcript: "The famous Erie caboose used by Commander Robert Peary on one of his trips in the far north and which served him as a dwelling house was taken from Susquehanna to Buffalo last week. What disposition is to be made of the relic is not known. On its trip west the caboose was guarded by an Erie police officer to prevent souvenir seekers from cutting it and [illegible]

HAS BEEN DOWN IN THE CRATER

Dr. E. D. Payne of Towanda, Once Visited Far Famed Kilauea Volcano.

INTERESTING STORY OF THRILLING ADVENTURE

Towandian Calls Attention to Erroneous Story of the "Three First Men" to Venture Into Treacherous Crater on Hawaiian Islands.

The following from last Friday's Philadelphia Public Ledger will be of interest to the people of this section, as it is the story of a thrilling adventure which Dr. E. D. Payne, one of Towanda's best known and most highly esteemed citizens figured in:

"An article in the Public Ledger of Sunday, Sept. 26, stated that on Sept. 25, three men—L. M. Hale, J. Reynolds and Ernest Moses, a photographer, descended into the pit of the crater of Mount Kilauea on Hawaiian Islands, remained there for half an hour, took photographs, and returned in safety to the rim. It was added, 'This is the first time this feat has been accomplished.'

"Commenting upon this statement, Dr. E. D. Payne of Towanda, writes that 'in years gone by this was quite frequently done by persons of ordinary physical vigor, and I, myself, together with a party of officers of the U. S. S. Jamestown, and some few tourists, accomplished the same thing, only much more extensively, as long ago as the year 1870.

"'During the early part of 1870, the Jamestown lay for some time in the harbor of Honomlu. On one occasion Major Charles Judd, Provost of the islands, gave a few of the officers, of whom I was one, an invitation to accompany him on the Government steamer in one of his inspections about the islands. Among other places, we stopped at Hilo, on the Island of Hawaii, for the purpose of visiting the volcano of Kilauea. On going ashore we were met by a man of very large proportions seated on a road horse of equal proportions, who ordered the line of march up to the town to halt, and in a voice of equal proportions said, 'I understand that there are some United States naval officers in this crowd, and I want it known that no United States officers can land at Hilo without stopping with Captain Spencer.' And so we stopped. Hawaii is the largest of the group of the islands that bear the name, and Mauna Loa, on the side of which the volcano is situated, rises not far from the sea. Kilauea, the volcano, lies on its bosom about two-thirds way up, and its crater is nine miles in circumference and three miles in diameter.

"'Captain Spencer's brother procured horses, and about a dozen started on the road to Kilauea, 30 miles distant. It was a pleasant day, with some showers, some beautiful groves, some rough roads and some delightful traveling. About noon we arrived at the half-way house, and by evening brought up at the Kilauea cottage. The view of the crater during the night was full of awe and grandeur, flames shooting high into the air and an occasional spurt up like an immense torpedo, while now and then the sound from broken and tumbling rocks was almost deafening. Refreshed by a good sleep, we procured a guide and after breakfast, prepared to descend into the crater. The guide furnished each of us with a stout pole about eight to ten feet long, to be used for testing the safety of the lava that we passed over. The lava bed is very treacherous, and one may at times place his foot on what seems to be firm foundation and find it only a bubble, covering a deep crevice. Our guide kept in advance, testing the lava as he went.

"'The guide led us to a point which was said to be the only one practicable. It was very precipitous, difficult to descend, and only accomplished by one person assisting another in places, and was about 800 feet deep. Looking from the surface above, the crater appeared like a great hole punched in the ground, and though it lay on the side of the mountain, it appeared to be on a vast plain. The top of Mauna Loa was several miles further up and several hundred feet higher.

"'We first made a direct crossing to the opposite side of the crater, and then of the circuit of the crater, following which we visited each of the three lakes. Though no one of these was in a state of eruption, yet one was just a seething mass of molten lava and the others a mass of red-hot rock. At one of these I got so close to the hot lava as to be able to stick the toe of my boot in it, and before the day was over the boots were ruined. At one point we came to a crevass so large and deep that we could not see its bottom, and a stone thrown in went roaring down so long as we listened. Whenever we could get a chance to look down a crevasse it appeared like a mass of red-hot rocks. We visited some caves in the banks of the creater during the day, and brought away some fine specimens of rock crystal.'"

MAY BUILD A TOWN IN McKEAN COUNTY.

Gigantic Lumbering Operations Will Be Started by Goodyears.

The Goodyear Lumber company is preparing to start cutting and bark peeling next spring at the head of Potato creek, McKean county, about 12 miles from Smethport, on the huge tract of timber which they own at that point.

This is probably the largest tract of virgin timber in the state of Pennsylvania and consists of 30,000 acres in McKean, Cameron and Elk counties. It has been a sportsman's paradise deer, bear, other game and fine trout streams being abundant and is a spot truly in the primitive. Its demolishment seems to be a pity as it should have been secured by the state for a preserve. But the state of Pennsylvania is unsentimental in regards to such things and this beautiful spot of nature must succumb to the hand of man.

To further the work the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad is being extended from Liberty to the scene of future activities.

Cutting and peeling will be started in the woods surrounding the new town and the product will be taken to where it will be sawed and the products of this tract will also be manufactured at Austin, it is understood.

As the scene of activities moves away from the town the railroad will be extended out but the town will concontinue to be headquarters.

The job will consume at least ten years in the cutting and chances are that the new place will become a permanent town.

ROCK SEEMS TO BE A VERY SCARCE ARTICLE.

Testing For Foundation For Proposed Dam Very Unsatisfactory.

Rock seems to be a scarce article along the Susquehanna river where it is desired to locate the big power dam. Chester Thomas of Milan, who has the contract for making the test for rock foundations for the proposed Towanda dam, has been hard at work with his drilling machine for the past couple of weeks, and while he has drilled in a number of holes, no rock has been found as yet.

The first test was made at the exact point where it is desired to locate the dam a short distance above the Wysox bridge. The drill was sent down 50 feet, but no rock was found. At this point a very thick bed of clay was encountered, and this alone is considered favorable. A twelve foot vein of clay will support the heaviest railroad bridge ever constructed, and if rock is not found, it is figured that piles driven into this clay will make almost as good a foundation as stone.

To make the test for rock thorough, the drilling machine was moved up the river to a point exactly opposite "Rocky Riffs." Here the drill has been sent down over 20 feet, but no rock has been encountered. This seems strange, when it is known that the bed of the river at this point is almost solid rock, but on the East side where the power house would have to be located if the dam is built at this point, no rock has been encountered. The drill will be put down full 50 feet at the new place before the test at this point is completed.

Fine, Indeed.

Mr. Editor:

When the big dam is built and our pretty town is dotted all around with hustling manufactories, and the joyful toot of the excursion steamer is heard on the Susquehanna; and our hopes for the "City of Promise" have been fulfilled by being filled full of gay and happy people—Then I wish we might be able to take a ride over the James street bridge, up the new road built by Wysox township to a point near Mr. Guard's; then across the fields to the bluff on the mountain east of Towanda; then along the skyline past gap rock to "Table Rock" where the "Copperhead" took his wonderful leap into the river. That would certainly be one the most thrilling magnificient, and beautiful drives in this part of the country and could be reached by a very easy grade. Guy C. Lane, North Towanda, Pa.

Going to Cleveland.

Miss Helen Rockwell, the efficient and obliging librarian at the Towanda Public Library has been granted a year's leave of absence, and on Sunday went to Cleveland, Ohio, where she will study the systems in vogue in metropolitan libraries. During her absence, Miss Dora Simpson will be in charge of the Towanda Public library.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Arrangements Completed For Annual Meeting of Teachers of Bradford County.

EXCELLENT INSTRUCTORS HAVE BEEN SECURED

The Evening Lectures and Entertainments Will Be of the Very Highest Class—O. L. Smiley Will Make Canvass for Sale of Tickets to Towandians.

The annual session of the Bradford County Teachers' Institute will be held in Keystone opera house, Towanda, during the week of Nov. 8th. The instructors for the day sessions will be as follows:

Dr. M. G. Benedict, principal St. Johnsbury Academy, St. Johnsbury, Vermont; Morris E. Bennett, supervisor of Penmanship, Braddock, Pa.; Reed B. Teitrick, Deputy Superintendent of public instruction, Harrisburg, Pa.; Hon. Henry Houck, secretary of internal affairs, Harrisburg, Pa.; James M. Coughlin, superintendent of the Wilkes-Barre public schools; Mrs. C. R. Stiles of the Towanda high school, and Prof. Jerry March of Girard College, Philadelphia, musical instructor.

All these instructors, except Prof. Bennett, are well known in Bradford county. The work in penmanship in many of the schools has been so unsatisfactory that it has been thought advisable to call attention to this important subject in all the educational gatherings this year. In order that teachers may become more proficient in teaching penmanship Prof. Bennett has been engaged to give special instrutcion during the institute.

Monday evening Dr. Dan McGurk, pastor of the Grand Avenue Church, Kansas City, Mo., will give his new lecture entitled, "The Kid Movement." He will condense and popularize the juvenile court work of such men as Judge Brown, Judge Lindsey and others.

This lecture will be especially appropriate for the teachers' institute. Dr. McGurk has made good on every platform whether commencement orator, preacher, Chautauqua or Lyceum lecturer. He was born in Pittsburg in the early 60's, went west in 80, received his college training in Kansas and his practical experience on two continents. He has been in great demand for his different lectures. In his lecture on the "Kid Movement" he is an expert witness for the neglected child. The lecture is not a hear-say story but a first hand recital of facts. He never fails to inspire and help every audience to which he speaks.

Tuesday evening Dr. J. Leonard Levy of Pittsburg, will give his celebrated lecture, "Marching On." As suggested by the subject of his lecture Dr. Levy is an optimist. He is a large man of large ideas and receives a large salary. He is paid $12,000 a year by his congregation. Newspaper notices concerning him would fill volumes. He has devoted his energies to theology, philanthropy, economics and literature. He is a natural orator. He has never spoiled his natural gift of elocutionary methods. His voice has remarkable power, his pronounciation perfect, his diction clear, his manner and method lucid. Born an Englishman, he is by adoption an American. It has been said of him "he realizes within himself the best influences exerted by the free institutions of the two most progressive nations of the world." He is a liberal preacher who does not have to go away from home to get an audience. His weekly addresses from his pulpit on Sunday mornings are attended by large congregations composed of people of all denominations. These addresses are issued each week in pamphlet form and over 50,000 of them are distributed each season.

The entertainment Wednesday evening will consist of a musical comedy in three acts entitled "Her American Husband," given by Walter Cluxton and a company of New York players selected with special view to the enterpretation of this charming musical play. "Her American Husband" is a musical comedy that you will never forget. Irresistible humor, bright and tuneful music, striking military costumes, beautiful gowns and special scenery make this production one of the best offerings of the season. Mr. Cluxton is one of those men who believe in doing things well. With this in view he first went to England to study the art of acting and during his six years' stay in that country became associated with Beerbohm Tree of his Majesty's Theatre, London, and Edward Terry of Terry's Theatre in the Strang. In America he has been singularly succesful playing the principal leading parts with Miss Nance O'Neil, Miss Margaret Wycherly and Miss Henrietta Crossman, also with "Piff, Paff, Pouff," the popular Casino theatre success in which he sang the principal baritone role in Mr. Whitney's all star cast. Many will remember vividly his remarkable performance of the messenger in the "Message From Mars," which he played for two years. He is an artist of high ideals, and earnest endeavor, having among his friends and admires many celebrities of today.

Thursday evening Dr. W. Quay Rosselle, orator, philosopher and humorist will give his popular lecture "Happy Thoughts on Homely Subjects." Several years ago Dr. Rosselle delivered his famous lecture "The University of Adversity" before the county institute. Those who heard him were greatly interested and will be glad to hear him again. By many persons he is classed with Conwell and Dixon by his humor, magnetism and pleasing oratory.

The institute will close its annual session with a musical entertainment Friday evening given by "The Commonwealth Ladies' Orchestra of Boston." The work of this organization rivals that of the great bands and orchestras of this and other countries. The company is composed of solo artists selected with great care for the part they take in the exquisite ensemble. The program covers the entire field of classical, popular and standard compositions. The program will include a string quartet, zylophone, trombone, and cornet solos, besides the regular soloist, making an entirely new program of great variety. Special mention should be made of Miss Nellie May Hoone, cornet soloist, without question the greatest lady soloist in this country. She plays with a fire and dash the most difficult solos that demand brilliant execution, responding to encores with an old song requiring the most delicate handling and purity of tone. The company consists of the leader, Mr. Lewis, and ten ladies, all artist of the first rank.

Monday's session will begin at 10:30 a. m. Teachers are urged to come early, enroll and purchase the new singing books, "King's School Songs, No. 4," and co-operate in every way to make this session the most profitable ever held in Bradford county.

The canvass for the sale of citizen's tickets for the county institute entertainment and lecture course will be made by O. L. Smiley. In order to save plenty of room for the teachers only 170 course tickets will be offered for sale to the citizens. The price of these tickets for the entire course will be $2. The cards purchased may be exchanged, without extra charge, at Kirby's drug store Monday, Nov. 1, at 9 a. m., for a reserved seat ticket. No reserved seat tickets will be sold to persons not having these cards until Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Thousand Feet of Pennies.

Sixteen cents, laid side by side, will measure exactly one lineal foot. The Sunday School of Christ Church has undertaken to contribute a thousand feet of pennies to the new stone and concrete pavement and driveway recently completed on the Church premises. They expect their friends to lend a hand.

WORK OF THE GRIM REAPER

Funeral of John Quigley.

Funeral services for the late John Quigley were held in the Church of SS. Peter and Paul Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Every seat in the spacious church was occupied and many were compelled to stand during the services. There were a large number of friends from out of town in attendance. This large attendance, in a measure, attested to the popularity and the esteem in which the deceased was held by the people of Towanda and nearby places. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Rev. Father Coroner, pastor of the Church, conducted the mass of the requiem and preached an eloquent sermon, paying high tribute to the life of the deceased. Rev. Father Brennan, D. D., secretary to the bishop, and Rev. Father Ruddy, curate of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul were at the altar during the services The pallbearers were: Robert MacNamara, James Bolan, Edward Larkin, Frank Sullivan, John Williams, and Joseph McMahon. The flower bearers were: Harry VanAuken, Arthur Carroll, Edward Barlow and William Mahoney. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery at North Towanda.

The Knights of Columbus of which deceased was a member, attended the services in a body, marching to the grave. The organization made a very fine appearance.

Charles W. Chapman.

With startling suddenness Charles W. Chapman of Laddsburg, a veteran of the Civil War, was summoned from this life on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17. He had been in his usual health, and at about 2 o'clock went to the well for a pail of water. Returning home he complained of a pain in his head and lay down on the bed. Two hours later his wife went to see how he was feeling and was horrified to discover that he was dead. He was 67 years of age. During the last years of his life he was very active in religioous and reform work; the system of charging interest on loans appealed to him as an abomination, and a few years ago he spent considerable time lecturing against the practice. Deceased was a native of this locality. At the breaking out of the Civil War he enlisted in the 7th Pennsylvania Cavalry, and later became a member of the 11th Pennsylvania Cavalry. He was a good soldier and served his country faithfully. He is survived by a wife by a second marriage, and four children, John Chapman of Eldredsville; Mrs. Luke McKernan of Laddsburg; Mrs. George Kintner of Bernice, and Mrs. Edward Carrington of Moxie. The funeral will be held from his late home at 1 p. m. Wednesday and from the church at Laddsburg, at 2 p. m.; interment at Laddsburg.—New Albany Mirror.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

A pleasant feature of the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union on Saturday last was the report of Miss Edna Smiley from the state convention held at Philadelphia Oct. 8-12. Miss Smiley was a delegate from the Towanda Union and brought an excellent report from the convention. An extract from the president's address says: "Ten years ago the convention met in this city. Then there were 44 counties represented and an enrollment of 12,000 with a prohibition territory of 6,000,000 square miles. Now 64 counties are represented with an enrollment of 22,000 and a prohibition territory of 40,000,000 square miles. The interstate shipment bill incorporated in the penal code of the United States this year is the first piece of fundamental legislation squarely recognizing the right of a state to protect against the liquor traffic." A vote of thanks was given Miss Smiley for her fine report and a request that she repeat it at some future meeting.

HE WON HIS BRIDE WITH A BIG "JACKPOT."

Masten Lumberman Settled Love Affairs With the Pasteboards.

"He played cards for her and won," is the way Tony Bosmick came to marry the pretty Austrian girl that helped Constable Page of Williamsport, to round up evidences to hold the woodsmen of Masten on the charge of illegal liquor selling. County Detective Tepel and Constable Page left the lumber camp without the man Bosmick, who escaped from their clutches.

In the lumber camp Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Bosmick, the pretty wife of the fugitive, and for whose hand other residents of the camp say Tony placed cards and was successful, conducted Constable Page to the place where Tony had located his speak-easy. It was a natural cave in the side of the mountain, an ideal place for hiding such an establishment, say those who saw it. In the saloon conducted by one of the suspects, Page counted 31 empty barrels.

"Tony no come back," says Mrs. Bosmick. She says he was tired of his card game prize, and had intended to leave her anyway, and she thinks he will run no chances of meeting with the authorities to come back home. She told how barrel after barrel of liquor was shipped into the camp, and how her husband and others sold it.

Constable Page followed Bosmick as far as Laquin, and there no trace of the suspect could be obtained. He is believed to have passed through Towanda in his flight.

A news dispatch from New York city says: "Large tracts of land in York and Lancaster Counties, Pennsylvania, and a number of islands in the Susquehanna River, besides several millions in stocks and bonds, are concerned in an order granted by Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court today affirming the Circuit Court of the Eastern district of Pennsylvania in granting a decree of foreclosure in the suit of Knickerbocker Trust Co. of New York against the McCall Ferry Power Co., also of this city. This property was mortgaged to the trust company by the power company to secure an issue of bonds aggregating $10,000,000. Taken to the Hospital.

Says the Sayre correspondent of the Waverly Free Press: "Several weeks ago George Armstrong, an aged negro who resides in the country near Towanda, was walking through the woods smoking a pipe. Sparks from the pipe fell on the ground, ignited the dry leaves and in an incredibly short space of time the fire had spread over a considerable section of ground. Armstrong attempted to extinguish the flames and in so doing his clothing caught fire. He then turned his attention to saving himself from burning up and he finally succeeded in getting his clothes off. He was badly burned about the legs, but paid no attention to it at the time. A day or two ago he was taken to the Packer hospital and his legs were in a deplorable condition. In places the flesh was about ready to drop off and gangrene had developed to some extent. Skin grafting has been resorted to and the surgeons hope to be able to save his life. Armstrong is very old. He cannot tell his age and is very deaf."

Smith is the husky lad who played a star game in left field for the fast Towanda baseball team the past season.

WAVERLY CALLS HAND OF TROLLEY COMPANY.

Alleged That Electric Line People Changed Wording of Agreement.

In compliance with the agreement reached last week between the Waverly village officials and the railroad officials, work had been begun to connect the Elmira, Corning & Waverly and the Waverly, Sayre & Athens electric roads, over which work there has been a controversy for over a year.

When the contract prepared by the railway company's attorneys was received Thursday morning for signature, it was found that the company had worked in several features contrary to the agreement reached last week.

The officials accordingly stopped the work at once, President Lawrence and other officials taking prompt, drastic action to prevent the railway people from getting the best of Waverly by the alleged trickery.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

VOTE ON THE AMENDMENTS.

New Jersey voted on constitutional amendments a short time since and they were defeated by default. The people were not against them, but carelessly ignored them. It is to be hoped that the voters of Bradford county will not suffer the nine good amendments which are now before them and to be voted on next month, to be defeated by indifference.

The plan to separate local issues from state and national issues by voting on them in different years is an excellent one. Vote for it.

The plan to do away with the February election and save about $1,400 to the county and about $1,200 to the townships is a good one. Vote for it. We have too many elections. The people get tired of politics, and the voters get tired of going to the polls. Apropos of this phase of the matter—the tiredness of the voters—it may be said that many of the voters appear to be tired all the time. We doubt if some of them would vote if there were but one election in ten years. See to it that the relief offered by the elimination of the February election is not forfeited by carelessness and in attention. Go to the polls and vote Vote for the nine good amendments. Vote against the seventh. Better to go to the polls and vote against the good amendments and for the bad one, than not to vote at all.

DUTY ON ELECTION DAY.

The man who loves his country will go to the polls and vote. The man who don't vote may claim that he loves his country, but if he does he has a mighty poor way of showing it. The casting of your ballot will be the most important duty you will have to do on election day. Be on hand early and do it, and then see that your friends and neighbors get their votes in. The proposed constitutional amendments are, excepting the seventh, of excellent intent and propose and will bring about changes and reforms that are needed. It would be shameful if they were defeated by default—simply because voters who were in favor of them didn't care enough about the matter to cast their votes, but exactly this thing is liable to happen. It happened in New Jersey but a short time ago. The election will be held on November 2. Let nothing prevent your voting.

Luzerne is a good county to live next to. We not only go there for much of our coal, but when Bradford county has any hanging to do she sends to Wilkes-Barre and borrows the famous scaffold owned and kept there by Luzerne county. That scaffold is one of the institutions of Luzerne county, and the people down there take a grim sort of pride in it, we are told. Scaffolds are such suggestive and spooky things to have around that, inasmuch as we do not have many hangings up this way, we do not keep one, but borrow our neighbor's when there is anything doing with us in that line. We borrowed it two years ago and disposed of one of our 'undesirable citizens" with it, and one year previous to this happening we ushered over the great divide a brother of this citizen, and we hope we won't need the scaffold again for a long time. Our neighbor, Wyoming county, has also borrowed it. On Thursday last, at Wilkes-Barre, Thomas Willis, a negro, and Stanley Nazarko were hung on this scaffold. Under the law scaffolds are as necessary as sheriffs, and if there is anything to be dreaded it is a scaffold that lies down in the middle of its job and won't work. Viewed from the standpoint of efficiency and reliability this Luzerne county product is something to be proud of.

There must be a black sheep in every flock says an old proverb, and the proposed seventh constitutional amendment which Pennsylvanians will on November 2, either ratify or reject, is the aforesaid dark colored unit in the amendment flock. The black sheep must be slaughtered.

You Republican, You Democrat, Your Whatever-you-are, you should be ashamed of the fact that it is necessary to urge you to go to the polls and cast your vote.

THE SEVENTH AMENDMENT.

Throughout the state there seems to be general approval of the proposed constitutional amendments with the exception of the seventh. The plan to eliminate one election a year, thereby effecting a considerable saving of expense both to the counties and the townships, and to separate local from state and national issues by holding the elections in different years, is commended irrespective of party lines. Amendment number seven, which if rattified next month will put it in the power of the legislature to take from the voters the right they now have to choose their election boards, is meeting with considerable opposition, which seems to increase as the days go by and the voters become better acquainted with the condition and terms of the proposed law. After a more careful study of the amendment we do not approve it. The proposed change cannot be too well understood. Now the people choose their own election boards, and the law calls for a minority representation. If the amendment is passed this will continue subject to the discretion of the legislature. The legislature will have the power to enact that the election officers shall be appointed. We understand that the legislature can make this change only as to city elections, and that therefore the amendment would not affect Bradford county elections. But Bradford county voters should be as much interested in the matter as those of the cities, for in state and national elections the interests of the two classes cannot be separated. Our views of the situation relative to this change in our organic law is clearly set forth by the Pittsburg Dispatch, and from that newspaper we copy the following paragraphs. We believe the seventh amendment should be voted down:

"This change is supported by an argument to the following effect: In many districts the voters elect to the election boards political heelers and men of the character who make false returns. If, it is argued, the selection of judges and inspectors is placed in the hands of careful and responsible persons like the common pleas judges, a higher class of election officers will be secured.

"To this it is replied that the amendment does not give any guarantee as to what class of people shall have the selection of election officers, that it leaves it open for the leigslature to take the very probable course of providing for each class of cities the system of appointment that the chief politicians of those cities will prefer, that even if judges were given the power of appointment it is not clear that they could take the time to investigate the character and efficiency of each one of the hundreds that they must appoint, and that the change is one which without any public demand proposes to remove from the people a right of election which they have long enjoyed, and to confer it on persons unknown.

"The weight of these arguments appears to be against the amendment. There are two further arguments which appear relative. The people have held this power for 35 years. They are now asked to vote it away from themselves—or, more precisely, to give the legislature authority to take it away from them—for reasons that are not apparent except on the theory that they are not to be trusted to make the right selections. They are trusted to elect governors, legislators and judges, but not election officers. This line of thought leads up to a wonder whether there is not somewhere in the background an Idea that the real power to elect the greater officers may lie in the selection of election boards.

"Certainly such a proposition is not calculated to conciliate the common voters, and they will be justified in rejecting it. Granted that in many districts a majority of voters may elect judges and inspectors of unscrupulous character. It will remain true that any reform that does not base itself on the improvement of popular judgment is built upon the sand. If there was any reform purpose behind the framing of this amendment it was a misguided one. If, as seems more probable, it is a scheme to enable machines to control election boards, it deserves defeat."

There are ten proposed amendments to the constitution to be voted upon next month. It is expedient to support all these propositions except the one marked No. seven. It makes it possible for the legislature to take away from the people the right to select their election officers, and for that reason it should be defeated Vote "no" on it and "yes" on all the others.

The editor of The Estanica News, in speaking of a subscriber who ordered his paper "stopped," for some trivial reason or other, makes this postmortem comment: "As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard, wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know that the last kind word spoken of him was by the editor of the paper which he so spitefully 'stopped.'

Peace hath her victories no less than war, and the greatest victories of peace are secured when the electorate turns out and fights at the polls for good government. The people can have what they want, and they are responsible for existing conditions. Republicans, go to the polls on November 2 and support your ticket. What are you here for? What are you Republicans for?

This is the "off year"—between the presidential and congressional elections. Let Republicans take care that the majority isn't off. Every Republican should vote.

THE FARM BOY.

Yes, sir, you can say what you please, he's the handiest thing on the farm; he's the life of the school and the home; he's the hope and the shield of this country. I'll pin my faith to him when his little old bare feet scorch in the dusty road and when he travels life's highest highways he'll not forget.

God bless him. He may go to sleep with a big lump in his throat and a big weight on his heart, and in the morning he whistles as he goes to milk. No richer dirt in this world for me than that where his bare feet have been; no friendship in all the world I covet more than this. Say, you fathers in 20,000 homes, get busy for the boys in your neighborhood, they are worth a million, every one of them.

They will pick up the lines when your hands tremble, they will turn up the wick a little when the shadows gather, they will bear your name down the years and be never so proud as when they talk of your good life.

"Taxation without representation" has made some trouble in this country first and last,—more particularly first, and our much honored ancestors, who lived in the times that tried mens' souls, and who fired the shot heard round the world, after becoming much riled spoke out plainly and said they wouldn't stand for it. And they didn't—from that day on. Indeed they were good men, and fighters. They had "sand," and when they had passed their word that they wouldn't be taxed unless they were allowed to share in making tax laws, they stuck to it, and thereby hangs a tale of blood, and starvation, and want, and woe, and death, and in the end glorious victory and magnificent achievement. And all this that we might have a government of our own, and that every mother's son of us might have a hand in it. And how do we get our hand in it? By casting the ballot. Simple thing, and easily done. And there are many who refuse to do this, and shame be on them for it. The fathers fought and bled and died, and the devil was to pay for long years, but that is neither here nor there to the man who don't vote, for he don't care. On election day he will be busy at home, or he will have to go to town, or he won't be feeling well, or he will forget it. And he will pay his tax, if he can and let someone else attend to the representation part of it. Poor creature. We think it was hardly worth while to go to all that trouble to provide him a government and a right to offset his tax by his vote. If the stay-at-home voter had been a foreseen result we are afraid that the "spirit of '76" would not have mounted to such lofty and glorious heights and one couldn't blame it if it hadn't.

Robert Ingersoll held strange views on religion and immortality, but that he had a fine mind is attested by the following expression, which may well be repeated often: "Make home the loafing place and playground of your children, and ten chances to one the feet that have tracked your floors with mud will not leave their footprints along the paths of vice and crime, and the sweet faces of your boys that have been such joy to you in their childhood will not adorn the rogues' gallery; the little hand that has so often been pressed to your lips will not push the chips across the gambler's table; the chubby arms of your daughters, that have so often entwined your neck, will not be employed to embrace the street rowdy and the lips not pressed to those befouled with obscene language nor the wine that leads to shame."

Speaking of constitutional amendments, the legislature of Minnesota has approved an amendment which the people will vote on in the election of 1910, as follows—"Laws may be enacted exempting lands from taxation for the purpose of encouraging and promoting the planting, cultivation and protection of useful forest trees thereon." A contemporary thinks that a similar amendment to the constitution of Pennsylvania would be a good thing, and we think so too. It would accomplish much for reforestation, and that is one of the great needs of the state.

In some of the Public schools of Connecticut a course of agriculture has been introduced in certain of the higher grades. A very good idea. A little more such instruction in our schools and less frills would do the country a vast amount of good. We want farmers more than we do incompetent dudes.—Lancaster Examiner.

Election one week from Tuesday next. To have a part in shaping the government of your county, state or nation is an honor you should be proud of, and a privilege you should not be slow to avail yourself of. Republicans, let not the majority in Bradford county on November 2 show the usual off-year slump.

Government crop forecasts are proving somewhat unreliable, the corn yield, notwithstanding favorable weather conditions and a fall without killing frosts, will be half a billion bushels short of the government's estimate of two months ago.

The candidates on the Republican state ticket are men eminently qualified for faithful and efficient service in the offices for which they have been named. Republicans should vote for them all.

CIGARETTES AND BUSINESS.

The recent drastic action against the cigarette in the Western States is very significant, and the reason, therefor is well worth the careful consideration of every young man who has an ambition to do something and make something in life worth while.

The States of Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska have all passed rigid laws prohibiting the manufacture or sale of what are aptly termed "coffin nails" within their borders.

These drastic laws are passed solely for business reasons. Employers have found it utterly useless to forbid cigarette smoking by their employees, as in spite of the prohibition the victims of the pernicious habit persisted in its indulgence in secret and felt that they were at liberty to do so as much as they pleased on their own time.

That of course, was their right, and not being a crime, could not be forbidden or punished by law. Moral reasons and preachments did not weigh. But in order to obtain competent and reliable help employers found it necessary to do something to put a stop to cigarette smoking, and their combined influences resulted in the passage of the laws.

The business men noted that men and boys in their employ, who were addicted to cigarette smoking were inefficient. Their nervous energies were thought to be continually running loose and could not be concentrated upon their tasks. The doctors talk about the rapid, weak and irregular hearts of those whose fingers were stained from too much smoking, and it became customary to refuse employment to those bearing this badge of servitude to "My Lady Nicotine."

As the proportion of young men who were free from the habit continually grew smaller, the problem of securing competent help because serious, and the only way out of the dilemma was to put the cigarette out of reach.

Physicians who fail to report cases of contagious diseases among their patients, as required by law, show disrespect to the statutes and imperil the lives of many others. Severe punishment should visited upon all delinquents.

There would be a great deal more domestic happiness if more women knew how to cook and bake and keep the house, and if fewer men visited the saloon or the club in pursuit of strong drink.

An advertisement is to a merchant very much what sowing seed is to a farmer. It may take a little time for the results to become apparent, but they are sure to come. The wise farmer is not niggardly with his seed, nor the wise merchant with his advertisements.

Whenever possible, the parents of the school children should attend the meetings held in their respective districts for the purpose of bringing the teachers and scholars closer together.

General Apathy in his day (and his days are too many) has won many a victory for bad government. Let Republicans sacrifice all other duties, if necessary, in order to cast a ballot on election day.

Republicans should give A. C. McGovern of Athens, candidate for jury commissioner, the full party vote, for he is a good man and will make an excellent officer.

Cast your vote on November 2 if you are alive and well enough to get to the voting place, and only if you are not will you be excusable.

Get out the vote and get in the vote.

PENROSE ACTIVE IN CAMPAIGNING

Senator Knows Necessity of Big Republican Vote.

IMPORTANCE OF TARIFF ISSUE

Pennsylvania Must Give Emphatic Indorsement of Payne Bill and Silence the Western Tariff Tinkers.

No one better than Boies Penrose realizes the importance of the campaign now under way in Pennsylvania.

No one better than Boies Penrose appreciates the far-reaching effect of a sweeping Republican victory in this state upon national conditions and national politics, and no one better than he understands how a reduced Republican vote and a reduced Republican majority would be heralded as a lack of confidence in the policy of protection which Pennsylvania's representatives in Washington so steadfastly championed at the recent session of congress.

Senator Penrose is therefore taking an unusually active part in the present state campaign.

He has made a number of speeches and he is giving much time to assisting the Republican state organization in the effort to get a large Republican vote to the polls on Nov. 2. He attended the convention of the State League of Republican clubs at Altoona, has made several speeches in Philadelphia, expects to visit Pittsburg to address a meeting on Oct. 28, and he will then return to Philadelphia to participate in the big Republican rally arranged by the Republican Business Men's association, which is to be held in Hammerstein's Opera House, the great temple of music in the Quaker City, which for the first time will be used for a political gathering. It was only due to the prominence of the members of the Business Men's association and the interest of the merchants and manufacturers of the city in the success of the Republican ticket that the opera house was secured.

Great Tribute to Penrose.

Senator Penrose has missed no opportunity to emphasize the importance of the tariff situation to Pennsylvanians. He has just been the recipient of one of the greatest testimonials ever given an American statesman.

The observation of "Penrose day" in the textile district known as Kensington was an event in the history of Philadelphia. The senior United States senator accepted invitations to visit a number of industrial plants, and he was given ovations at every place he stopped by thousands of mill workers, as well as the proprietors of the various establishments, in recognition of his services in protecting those interests in the framing of the Payne tariff bill. Flags were flying from the homes of many of the wage earners in the mill district and the factories were gaily decked with bunting. At each stopping place men and women assembled, and after listening to a short address from him upon the subject of the tariff and the benefits that have been derived from protection, they cheered the senator lustily. Employes, both men and women, made speeches thanking him on behalf of their colleagues.

In the evening of the same day over five hundred representative manufacturers, coming from various states of the Union, assembled at the Bellevue-Stratford and lauded Senator Penrose for the part he took in the great fight for protection so recently. Representatives of the wage earners were also heard from at this gathering.

Senator Penrose is making earnest appeals to Republicans of the state to roll up a majority such as will leave no question of Pennsylvania's position on the tariff issue and be a service of notice upon revisionists that further tinkering with the tariff will not be tolerated.

"Go West, young man!" or go South, or East, or North. You cannot well miss it in this great country, if you have the right sort of stuff in you. —Washington Herald. That is a fact. And with the proper stuff one might just as well stay in Towanda and hustle.

AN EDUCATIONAL ITEM.

The demands of the day are for a more thorough and practical training in the common English branches. There is too much soaring 'mong stars, delving 'mong rocks and attempting to resurrect dead languages to the exclusion of something more practical and useful.

Too much gilded show, dress parade and superficial knowledge of common things to be of any use in the ordinary routine of life where ninety-nine one-hundredths of us are destinued to flop out an existence. Too little practical application of what really ought to be known to get superficial knowledge of something that cannot be utilized after it is known. There is more eagerness to get to the end than there is a desire to know what there is between the beginning and the end. What we want is less show and pretention and more downright actual knowledge of what we ought to practically know to meet the every day life. These hints are free and need only be taken where applicable.—Exchange.

Observations extending over 40 years convince us that most courtships are begun about the middle of October, when the evenings grow chilly and sitting in the parlor becomes comfortable. Just before Christmas there are often halts—due principally to a certain reluctance costly to venders of Christmas gifts. But after the holiday season there is commonly a rapprochement and along toward January 30 there arrives the period of preliminary and tentative osculation. The middle of February sees Clarence advance to the strangle hold and by mid-March Angeline is giggling with her prospective bridesmaids over the details of her trousseau. April and May are spent by Clarence with the money sharks, floating a loan to finance the honeymoon. With the first stroke of June —Mendelssohn—"Ain't she pale!"—"Let no man put asunder!"—Lohengrin"—rice—old shoes—Atlantic City Niagara Falls! 'Twas ever thus.

The Federal government finds itself under the necessity of employing the services of cats in its larger offices. The cats give their services gratuitously, receiving shelter and food. The entire force of cats engaged in ridding the postoffices of the country of rats is going to cost the government the sum of $135 for food during the coming year. It is impossible to determine how much this is per cat, for the reason that the figures are not at hand showing how many of the animals are in the service. But it is very evident that they are going to earn their keep.

It is estimated that the United States and Canada have a million bushels of wheat for export. The latter country is rushing the crop to market before lake transportation closes and this is causing American producers of this grain to hold back for better prices.

AN INTERESTING LAWSUIT.

Forty thousand acres of Yakima Indian land, valued at $300,000, and the validity of a treaty made by Isaac I. Stevens, first Territorial Governor of Washington, and Kamaichan, Chief of the Yakima Tribe, in 1855, are involved in an action by the United States against the Northern Pacific Railway Co., now on trial before Judge Edward Whitson in the Federal Court at Spokane, Wash.

The Government seeks to prove that the boundary of the land, held by the railroad, is the main ridge of the Cascade, as stated in the treaty, while the defense contends that the boundary, as interpreted when the patents were issued, is the watershed of the Klickitat and Toppenish Rivers. A survey of the tract was made in 1890 and the boundary established on the mountain ridge. This was followed by a resurvey in 1900, when it was reported to Congress that an error had been made in interpreting the treaty by showing the boundary to be the watershed of the two streams already mentioned. If the Government is sustained the company will have to relinquish its claim.

FROM TOWANDA TO NICHOLS OVER FINE STATE ROAD.

This Trip Can Be Made in Couple of Years if Plans Do Not Go Wrong.

From Towanda to Nichols, N. Y., over a fine state road is the hope of the people of Eastern Bradford, and such a trip can be made in a couple of years if plans do not go wrong. A state aid road is now being built from Maloney's corner at Wysox to the East end of the Towanda wagon bridge, and petitions have been filed with the State Highway departments for a continuation of the road on through Wysox township, thence through the townships of Rome, Orwell, and Windham to the New York state line at Nichols. This takes the highway through the Wysox valley, and will be a great improvement to Bradford county.

The Highway department has advised that such changes as will be beneficial, be made in the road, and all grades cut as much as possible. A number of changes have been made in Windham township, and others are to be made, so when the road is completed, it will be almost on a railroad grade with practically no hills.

A number of flourishing villages are on the line of this road and they will be greatly benefited. These villages are: Wysox, Myersburg, Rome, North Orwell, and Windham Centre. The length of this road will be a little over 26 miles.

Already the New York state Highway department has constructed a state road running out of Nichols for some distance, and they have given the Eastern Bradford citizens their assurances that they will continue the road, thus giving a fine outlet in New York state.

The people of Eastern Bradford are very enthusiastic over the prospects, and every effort is being made to have the road built as soon as possible. Windham township is second in line in the state for a road, so it is confidently expected the highway will be built within the next two years.

Prince and Miss Maude Frost will open a bazaar in the store room in the Obenauer block, where fancy articles, embroideries, etc., not usually kept in other stores will be sold. A specialty will be made of exclusive designs, and special orders will be solicited and quickly filled. In the same store, Mrs. Julia McCraney will open and conduct a Japanese tea room such as are now in vogue and very popular in the large cities. In this department, hot tea, coffee and chocolate, with cakes, bread, etc., will be served every afternoon. The three ladies thoroughly understand the business which they will engage in, and no doubt will make a success of the venture.

A Miraculous Escape.

The Corning Leader says of the accident to Albert Smith of Sayre, near that place Saturday night, that it is considered a miracle that Smith was not killed. He was running his motorcycle at high speed and was just about to pass a farm team when the man turned directly ahead of him to enter a farm driveway. It was simply a question of crashing into the team or going into the fence and he chose the latter. An eight-inch fence post was broken and two heavy rails were broken in the terrific crash and the motorcycle was wrecked. Smith was unconscious and was taken at once in an automobile which was following him. Within an hour he recovered consciousness and at the hospital was found none the worse for his experience except for some severe bruises.

On a Man-o-War.

The "white ribboners" from Bradford county, who were in Philadelphia to attend the state convention, chaperoned by Miss Emma Bush, visited the navy ward and went aboard the warship Georgia which was tied up in Delaware Bay. This was the ship that led the fleet in the Hudson-Fulton parade. It has a crew of 800 men. They gave the delegates a warm welcome and said they had a warm spot in their hearts for the W. C. T. U. When they were in SanFrancisco the W. C. T. U. ladies came aboard their ship with coffee and cake and treated them so nicely, the boys said it seemed like home.

Signed Check Handy.

A news dispatch from Ithaca says: "Mrs. Caroline Cornelius of this city returned to her home yesterday from a visit to Brooklyn to find that every dollar she had in the bank, $138.57 had been drawn by some unknown person. A thief entered her house last Thursday night, found her check book, containing a blank check she had signed, inserted the figures shown in the balance coupon and had the check cashed."

Baked Peaches.

Not everybody knows that peaches can be baked like apples. Peel them and place in a shallow pan and sprinkle with a little sugar, melted butter, a few drops of lemon juice and a slight grating of nutmeg. Some housewives served them in halves with the pits removed, to be eaten with spoon, like an orange. The velvety skin is tough enough to hold without breaking.

TRAVELING SALESMAN HAD THRILLING TIME NEAR ULSTER

Drove Off a Bridge in Storm and Had Narrow Escape From Drowning

L. C. Crowe, representing the National Drug company of Philadelphia, and who is known to nearly every doctor and druggist in this section, was in Towanda Wednesday, exhibiting evidences of a thrilling experience and narrow escape from death which he had on Monday night of this week near Ulster.

With a livery team and driver from Ulster, Mr. Crowe had been at East Smithfield, and after supper started on the return trip for Ulster. They were caught in the severe storm which raged over this section all evening, without lantern or other guide kept on their way.

About half way between Smithfield and Ulster, in the darkness they drove off a bridge, and plunged into a gully half full of water. The men landed on top of the horses, and then rolled into the water beside the animals, one of which was kicking furiously, while the other horse remained strangely quiet. They managed to crawl out of the gully and after a time located a farm house, where they secured help.

With lanterns an examination of the gully was made and at the bottom the badly wrecked wagon was found lying on top of one of the horses which had been killed, while the other animal was in water nearly over it's back, and was trying to get up the steep bank. After considerable difficulty, the animal was rescued, and was found to be seriously injured.

Mr. Crowe lost his sample case valued at $25 and hat which were swept away in the flood. He was badly bruised and lacerated in many places but is thankful he was not drowned or kicked to death by the horse. The driver lost his hat, and was badly bruised about the head and body.

WANT FRANK WEST OUSTED FROM OFFICE.

Alleged That He Was Inspector at His Own Election.

L. J. Biles and nine other citizens of Wyalusing township, have instiuted quo warranto proceedings to have Frank West ousted from the office of road supervisor of Wyalusing township.

It is alleged that Mr. West served as inspector of the election in Wyalusing township last February when township officers were chosen, he being one of the supervisors elected, and for that reason he cannot legally serve as one of the supervisors.

Judge Fanning Thursday granted a rule to show cause why the defendant shall not be ousted from the office, the same being returnable Nov. 1. Lilley & Wilson represent the petitioners.

Commissioner Marsh Injured.

Says the Troy Gazette Register: "As Commissioners Marsh and Bird and D. A. Keefe were coming to Troy by automobile Wednesday, Mr. Marsh was thrown out by the machine being driven upon an embankment below East Troy to let a team pass. His left wrist was painfully though happily not seriously injured and he was badly bruised."

THE GUNNING SEASON OPENED FRIDAY.

The Game Law of 1909 Again Summarized—Trespass Law.

The hunting season opened Friday and the sportsmen of Towanda and Bradford county are making for their annual trip to the mountains and woods in search of game.

Pheasants, rabbits and quail are said to be plentiful this year throughout the entire State, the rain on Monday last has laid the fallen leaves solid and there is nothing to handicap the sportsmen unless they fail to see the birds or hit the mark.

Trespassers cannot be too careful this year, the law being strict with reference to any one trespassing upon grounds without permission. However, owners of land must post notices up in conspicuous places about their premises. Hunters should also take warning from another law relating to using fire on the mountains. Anyone caught in the act of using flint or matches that may lead to forest fire will be severely dealt with, and the game wardens and state police are on the alert to see that nothing of the kind takes place.

GOING TO RUSSIA ON INTERESTING MISSION.

Troy People Will Sail From New York on December 5.

Louis G. Michael, Mrs. Michael, who was Miss Lisle McCollom, and Mrs. J. T. McCollom, her mother, of Troy, expect to sail December 5th from New York in the New Amsterdam of the Holland-American Line, for Kishneiff, Russia. The story of their going is most interesting says the Troy Gazette-Register.

More than a year ago the legislature or council of the province of Bessarabia, European Russia, became interested in corn breeding as enunciated and put into successful practice by Prof. Holden of the Ames, Iowa, State College. A bill was framed and passed providing for an experiment station for this new phase of scientific farming, which has added millions of bushels to the world's corn crop. From a long list of Americans to head the new department, Mr. Michael from his general fitness and association at Ames with Prof. Holden, was selected at a salary of $4,000 a year and official expenses. A contract for three years with transportation was sent Mr. Michael, but not until the legislature met this month in special session and amended it was it finally accepted.

En-route to Kishnieff, a city of 100,000, which he will not reach until next March, Mr. Michael will spend some time in Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Austria and Bulgaria, in acquiring an intimate, first-hand understanding of foreign Board of Trade methods as related to corn.

The latitude of Bessarabia is a little north of Duluth, but the climate is not unlike that of Southern New York and Northern Pennsylvania, the mean temperature being 50 degrees. With corn much fruit is grown, including grapes.

Mr. Michael will be the bearer of an official commission from the Governor of Iowa to study agricultural conditions abroad and not improbably from the Federal Government as well.

Mr. Michael is a native of Michigan, an officer of the State Guard of Iowa, and especially fortunate in his wife, whose splendid home training and full course at Cornell have been supplemented by parts of two years abroad and a number of years of most successful teaching, principally in the department of German at Ames.

Preparatory to sailing, Mr. Michael, who was called to Troy by the death of Mr. McCollom, will return to Ames the last of this week to close up his work as chemist of the State Experimental Station.

Against Publishing Jurors Names.

Contrary to the custom in many Pennsylvania counties of the press publishing lists of jurors drawn to serve, the Smethport Democrat states that it refrains from this publicity because when the names are published broadcast it undoubtedly better affords corruptionists an opportunity to select talesmen for undue influence. Besides, adds the Democrat, an old ruling of the McKean county court never rescinded, was against the publication of jurors' names before court sessions.

Pomona Grange Meeting.

MANY ATTENDING THE CONVENTION

Fifteenth Annual Meeting of Bradford County Sabbath School Association.

DELEGATES FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY

State Workers and Talented Ministers Are Encouraging the County Workers—Dr. Lansing Gave An Address. Program For Today.

The fifteenth annual convention of the Bradford County Sabbath School association opened yesterday at 2 p. association opened Tuesday at 2 p. church with about one hundred and seventy-five in attendance. Rev. Abbott of the Universalist church conducted the devotional service, then the county president, Rev. J. S. Wilkes of Stevensville, introduced the state field worker, Miss Cora N. Coates who spoke upon "The New Graded Lessons," bringing out much that was new to many Sunday school workers.

After a hearty song service, Rev. G. A. Briggs of Waverly, was announced to speak upon "The Leader, His Training and Work." Rev. Briggs was at one time president of this association and an enthusiastic worker in Bradford county. God is working now just as he always worked. He meets the child today just as he met the child, Samuel. The fundamental religious germ is already in the child's mind, it needs a chance to grow, to develop, it needs cultivation, pruning, first the blade then the ear and then the full corn. Stories for all ages may be found in the Bible; stories to fit all occasions. When the child can see God as Moses saw him, he is equipped for citizenship here and hereafter.

The song, "Come ye that love the Lord," was given with much fervor, after which W. D. Reel, one of the state workers, conducted a Round Table conference upon "Teacher Training." Slips with questions relating to Sunday School Normal work or Teachers' Training class were distributed. A very complete outline of the work of teachers training as requested by the state association was given. Many people well learned in other lines do not know the things they ought to know about the Bible. Mr. Reel believes that the best way to obtain this result is to have a course in teachers training in every Sunday school, "Study to show thyself approved of God."

The Hon. A. C. Fanning next presented "The Bradford County Bible Society, its Aim and Work." The work done by the Bible Society has resulted in untold good to Christianity.

A special meeting of the Bradford county Bible Society was announced to be held at the close of the session.

President Wilkes then gave the ten points required for each county to reach before it can be recognized as a "Front Line County" at the State convention. Counties attaining eight points are recognized as banner counties, and Bradford is recognized as a banner county, but it is hoped that next year at the state convention Bradford will be given the "Front Line Banner."

The report of last years' conventions at Canton and Wyalusing were read and approved.

The report of officers and naming of committees followed after which the benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. S. Stewart, D. D.

The Evening Session.

About 350 people attended the session Tuesday night, which was opened by a song service led by the choir. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. A. Gernaht, and Rev. C. C. Gustin. Rev. John S. Stewart, D. D., gave the address of welcome and in the course of his remarks spoke of this as being the third series of Bradford county conventions within his memory; of how much the Sabbath workers of Bradford county owe to the State Association for the success of this convention, for the able speakers who were present.

Rev. E. P. Morse of Troy, made the response, saying that a great many interests called the Sabbath School workers to Towanda, and when the invitation came to go into the house of the Lord, he was glad. Following the response, a collection was taken, after which "Onward Christian Soldier" was rendered.

Dr. Lansing's Address.

The feature of the evening was an address by Rev. I. J. Lansing of Scranton, who had as his subject "The Sunday School as an Educational Force." Dr. Lansing fulfilled the promises made for him, and held the undivided attention of the large audience throughout his discourse. In part he said:

"God has raised up the American Sunday school to save the American child and to save the American states. You cannot have religion half way. Either you must be all religious, or you will drop what religion you have. Since the taking out of religious teachings from the schools the tendency of the youth is toward immorality. When God begins things, He begins things small, like the oak from the acorn. I want the youth to be clean and noble, and the expansion of the Sabbath school into a great national educational force. The teaching of the Bible gives breadth; it's teacher makes application of it's church is in giving the most of it's preaching to the grown people instead of the children."

AURORA BOREALIS.

People Out Late Monday Evening Were Treated to Fine Sight.

People who happened to be out late Monday evening, were treated to a fine sight when the aurora boralis was the most extensive that has been seen in years, and as the lights played about the sky from the horizon to the zenith the sight was awe inspiring.

The lights entended from the west to the northeast, and reached all the way to the zenith, and while there was no variation in color the lights being white it was their extent and the playing and flashes of light that held the attention.

The lights spread out like a fan but long streams played continually across the sky while the entire heavens had the appearance of being on fire. One long stream of flame shot continually from the extreme west across almost to the eastern horizon then would break back to the zenith where it would appear to break as though there had been an explosion and play with vivid flashes for several seconds.

The lights first began to be brilliant at 11 o'clock and continued uninterruptedly until long after midnight.

Have You Those Chairs?

The committee of the Village Improvement society having in charge the establishment of a "rest room" for out of town visitors and shoppers, are anxious to be able to open the room on Tuesday, the first day of the Bradford county Sunday School convention. To do this they must have some chairs, a cot, two screens and a wash stand. Parties having porch chairs they are willing to loan, and other articles they feel they can donate or loan, are asked to communicate with the committee at once. Telephone Mrs. M. J. Long, Miss Blight or Mrs. E. L. Smith. The establishment of a "rest room" in the Northwest corner of the basement of the court house will provide a very handy and comfortable place for the purpose, and a convenience that will be highly appreciated by many visitors to Towanda.

Coming to North Towanda.

The famous "Potters" will give an entertainment in the Methodist church at North Towanda on Thursday evening, Oct. 21. The "Potters" were at North Towanda the fourth of last February and so kept the audience in roars of laughter when not in tears that all were unanimous in the request for a return date. This has been secured and all feel confident that they will be greeted by a crowded house. Those who did not hear them before are especially urged to attend and spend a most enjoyable evening. The program will be entirely different from that given before unless some of the numbers be repeated by request. Price of admission will be ten and 20 cents.

Cattle Condemned.

Says the LeRaysville Times: "Monday, Oct. 4, Dr. N. C. Bennett of Stevensville, was called to Alba E. Johnson's to test his herd of seventeen dairy cows. A thorough test was made and six out of the seventeen were found to be afflicted with tuberculosis. Under the new law Mr. Johnson will receive about one-third more from the state than in years past. Formerly, the condemned cows were appraised by the pound, but under the new law the appraisement is made by the head, the owner to retain the carcass and hide if the inspector so decides."

First Bear.

Says the Canton Sentinel: The first bear of the season, so far as we have heard, was killed by Fred Sterling and Sam Keltz, one day last week, when they went over into the Rock Run district to fix up Tomsammi Camp for the party that was to go from here later in the week. The bear was a young female, weighing about 75 pounds, with a beautiful glossy coat. Game is said to be abundant in the woods, despite the forest fires and dry weather. Some nice bags of game are confidently expected.

About Rev. M. G. Smith.

A South Bradford, N. Y., correspondent says of a former Towanda man: "Rev. M. G. Smith preached the closing sermon for the year last Sunday and it is the wish of his many friends that he may be returned to this village another year. His sermons for the past two years have been instructive and helpful."

J. F. PRINCE WINS QUOIT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Athenian Won Five of the Eight Games From 'Squire Meredith.

J. F. Prince, a pleasant speaking, unassuming Athens gentleman, is the champion quoit pitcher of Bradford county. He won this title in Towanda Thursday when he met 'Squire John Meredith, the representative of the Towanda Quoit club, in the deciding games of the championship series.

The first three games were pitched at Athens during the Inter-State fair, 'Squire Meredith winning two of the games pitched, thus taking the lead. The other five games of the series were pitched on the Kinney House grounds Thursday afternoon, Mr. Prince winning four, making him five out of the series of eight games, and entitling him to the championship belt.

A strong wind was blowing during the contest Thursday and niether pitcher could do his best. Mr. Prince pitched a steady game, while his opponent was erratic in his delivery. O. L. Smiley was judge of yesterday's pitching.

Following is the complete score:

Games	Prince	Meredith
First	25	33
Second	33	26
Third	33	19
Fourth	33	16
Fifth	33	29
Totals	157	123

Now that the championship has gone to Athens, Ed. Walker, James Kinney, and Winfield S. Simpson, members of the Towanda Quoit club, have gone into training and they are going to challenge the new champion.

Dry Talk On a Wet Subject.

Says the New Albany Mirror: "New Albany people have no idea of the inconvenience their neighbors have been undergoing as a result of the dry season. The writer was at Laddsburg Sunday and found the inhabitants of that place bringing water from long distances. The old reliable spring at J. G. Grant's has gone "on the bum." The only supply to be had is from the old oil well. This well was drilled 300 feet deep, and a copious flow of water comes steadily from the casing that remains in the oilless hole. The water is of a superior quality, coming from the depths of the earth. Leonard A. Waltman has a splendid well; hewn out of solid rock, seven feet in diameter and 22 feet deep, it has now about 8 feet of water. Several neighbors depend on this well for family use. Here at home we have only to touch the button and a plentiful supply of good water is at hand. It should make us feel thankful that we have such an unfailing and convenient supply."

COURT OPINES IN TWO CONTROVERSIES.

Rules in Favor of Attorney Kaufman vs. U. M. Fell, Garnishee.

Judge Fanning ruled in two cases Tuesday, that of David E. Kaufman, vs. U. M. Fell, garnishee of Clara P. Brown, and the Athens National Bank vs. Julia A. Lull.

The opinion in the first case was in favor of David E. Kaufman, Esq. This litigation grew out of the arrest in Towanda some time ago of S. MacAforde who was charged with impersonating a United States officer. Attorney Kaufman was employed to defend MacAforde by Clara P. Brown, who interested herself in the case. Before a justice, MacAforde was cleared, but was immediately rearrested on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner John W. Mix. Mrs. Brown, who was a resident of New York state, sent a draft for $1,000 to U. M. Fell which was to protect the bondsmen of MacAforde and to also guarantee the payment of the attorney fees. Not receiving his fee, Attorney Kaufman attached the money in the hands of U. M. Fell, and the case was heard during the May term of court, resulting in a verdict for the plaintiff. Attorney William Maxwell, who represented Mrs. Brown asked for a judgment for the defendant notwithstanding the verdict, and yesterday the court handed down an opinion quashing the rule and directing the payment of Mr. Kaufman's fee.

Lilley and Wilson represented Attorney Kaufman, while William Maxwell was attorney for the defendant, Mrs. Brown.

In the case of the Athens National bank vs. Julia A. Lull, Judge Fanning yesterday handing down an opinion, discharging the rule to show cause why judgment shall not be entered for costs. This is a case which was reversed by the higher courts and no provision was made for the payment of the costs. Attorney D. C. DeWitt representing Julia A. Lull asked for a rule to save her from the payment of the costs, but the Court refused.

DUNSMORE GETS THE THE COVETED PLACE.

Appointed Assistant United States District Attorney.

When the October term of the district court of the United States for the middle district of Pennsylvania opened Monday afternoon at Scranton, C. B. Witmer, United States district attorney, announced to Judge Archbald that the United States attorney general had appointed A. B. Dunsmore, of Wellsboro, Tioga county, assistant United States district attorney. The new official was sworn in and assumed his duties. The position was made vacant by the resignation of A. T. Searle, of Honesdale, who was appointed a judge in the court of common pleas in Wayne county.

Mr. Dunsmore has served three terms in the house of representatives. Until the last session he was aggressively opposed to the Machine. He supported Cox for speaker and became less hostile. He is now regarded as the Penrose leader of Tioga county, and it was Penrose's influence that brought about the present appointment.

TWO HUNDRED BUSHELS OF POTATOES PER ACRE.

Former County Treasurer Hubbard Produces Many Tubers.

Says this week's Troy Gazette-Register: "The latest report of a noteworthy yield of potatoes comes from Springfield, where former county treasurer F. N. Hubbard and son grew this dry year upwards of 65 bushels of fine, large, smooth potatoes on a scant third of an acre. It was the son's proposition to supply the needed plant food in the exact form and proportions in which it was used. The result certainly is a most gratifying confirmation of the younger Mr. Hubbard's judgment. Two hundred bushels to the acre is not an extremely large yield, but it is a whole lot better than 40 to 50 bushels. This potato patch had good care only; hardly as many cultivations as would be given by any good farmer. The fertilizer was paid for a number of times over by the increased yield. In this connection the Gazette-Register feels like congratulating the Messrs. Hubbard on their contribution to what can be done with potatoes in Western Bradford.

"To our mind the way to keep the really worth while young men on the farms is to co-operate with them heartily in doing things after modern methods. Just plain, old-fashioned, hit or miss farming, is mighty dull business for a live man, young or old. If the boys are not allowed to play the game of progress on the home farm, they will seek another home, most likely in town or distant city where they can live their own lives, though the chances of success are not half so good.

"As communities we gain or lose, progress or retrograde, according to the number of good, young men who go or stay.

"Alfalfa is coming in Western Bradford and potatoes will come with a few men in each community like Mr. Hagerman and the Messrs. Hubbard to boost."

Could Not Identify Her.

Say Now, "I Will Try These Foods Shot from Guns"

Order one package, either Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice. Then you will know the whole story.

Hear what your folks say when they taste the gigantic grains. See if they ask for more.

Do this tomorrow—order the package now. Do it to learn just how much you are missing.

Hosts of housewives have already done this, and been glad that we told them to do it.

And their folks have been glad.

For no other cereal foods can compare with them. None are even half so good.

The result is this: Those folks last month served seventeen million dishes of these delightful foods.

Can you doubt that you are going to like them as well as the rest of the world?

One package will tell.

Puffed Wheat—10c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Puffed Rice—15c

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

ORCHARD INSPECTOR STILL WORKING IN THIS COUNTY

D. A. Knuppenburg is Inspecting Orchards in Vicinity of Athens.

D. A. Knuppenburg, orchard inspector and demonstrator for the division of zoology, department of agriculture, Pennsylvania, speaks words of praise for the kind and friendly manner in which he is received by the people of Bradford county, seldom being turned away without food or lodging an that fit for a king. Much credit is due the county officials and people for the way the public highways are cared for, the loose stone are kept out of the road, which adds so much to the comfort of all who travel. While some fault has been found with the auto driver, he has yet to meet th man who has not shown him courtesy and believes the great majority are well bred, obliging people.

Mr. Knuppenburg further states: "My work is that of going from o chard to orchard inspecting the trees, collecting information wanted by the state and to answer questions as to insect pests and care of orchards. This work is required by law and all practical citizens are invited to avail themselves of the services thus provided for them, without cost, to extend to the state representative such cou tesies and facilities as will enable him to push this work with successful results in behalf of the public. Just now we note the San Jose is multiplying by the billions, the warm weathe being favorable. Small trees could be painted with soap suds made very strong to hold scale in check and kill the young scale until the leaves are off and time to do more thorough work. The codling moth larvae is now busy finding winter quarters u der the rough bark of apple and trash. Much effective work could be done by scraping the rough bark from the trees and cleaning up and trimming all trash weed and dead leaves this fall for these furnish a resting place for millions of insects that will come forth next spring to destroy our fru and crops." The orchard inspector will be working in the west side of Athens township this winter.—Athens Gazette.

Telephone Improvements.

Says the Canton World: "Manager R. K. Morse of the Rural Telephone company of LeRoy, who are connected directly with the Bell service, has contracted for one of the latest switchboards which will be installed at LeRoy in the near future. One of the new features is that the signal to the operators is given by a red ball appearing directly in front of them and only the ring for central will be recorded, and no line rings will go into the central office. The subscribers' ring for central will not be heard by any of the subscribers on the line. The new features are a great advance in telephony and will be greatly appreciated. A trunk line will connect the Canton Telephone company board with the exchange at LeRoy which reaches about 125 subscribers along the Towanda creek valley. The proposed changes in the Canton Telephone company's system which will be made will bring the telephone up to the highest efficiency."

The Governor's Choice.

Says the Montrose Republican: "Governor Edwin S. Stuart has notified F. A. Davis, Esq., that he has appointed him as a delegate to represent the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the Farmers' National Congress to be held at Raleigh, N. C., commencing Nov. 4. This honor comes in recognition of Mr. Davis' excellent work in connection with the farmers' institutes and in other matters pertaining to agriculture. He hopes to attend the convention."

LUZERNE COUNTY HAS TWO EXECUTIONS.

Willis and Nazarko Pay Penalty For Their Crimes—Cupid Waited.

Resigned to their fate, and manifesting but the slightest degree of emotion or nervousness, Thomas Willis, a negro, and Stanley Nazarko, walked bravely to the gallows erected in the Luzerne county prison yard at Wilkes-Barre Friday morning and paid the death penalty for their respective murders—Willis for killing aged Cameron Cool at West Pittston on Dec. 26, 1907, and Nazarko, for shooting his common law wife, Mary Czeslikouka, in the Four Brothers saloon at Pittston on Aug. 20, 1908.

It was the first time in the history of Luzerne county that two men were executed on the same day, and despite the gruesomeness of the job it was carried out with the greatest dispatch.

Willis was hanged first, dying at 10:14, and Nazarko took the fatal drop about half an hour later. Mrs. Nazarko, wife of one of the condemned men, waited in the prison office until her husband was dead, and then went to join her lover, whom she will marry in a few days. Nazarko, willed her everything he possessed and his last wish was that she would be happy with her new husband.

The scaffold on which Willis and Nazarko were executed is perhaps one of the most famous instruments of death in America. Many noted murderers have been swung into eternity on the end of a rope stretched from the cross beam. Through the trap of this same scaffold Charles and Bigler Johnson were dropped to death at Towanda. It was so used to put to death Rosensmeig and Blanc, the two Hebrews, who murdered and robbed Jacob Marks of Towanda, on a lonely Rob Wood mountain in Wyoming county.

On Wednesday, Sept. 29, the little fellow fell from a swing at Powell and fractured both his forearms. At the right wrist the bones projected through the flesh. The fractures were properly reduced but on the following Saturday gangrene developed in his right hand. He was taken to the hospital on Saturday, Oct. 3, and on the following day the boy's right arm was amputated midway between the elbow and shoulder. It was then hoped his life could be saved. A few days later it became necessary to open his left arm to let out the poisons, but his blood seemed filled with the poisonous elements and on Thursday of last week it was found necessary to open both his lungs and abdominal cavities to let out poisonous fluids.

Everything known to medical and surgical science was done to stay the hand of death, but his system was so saturated with poisons, due to the gangrene that he died Saturday morning from heart exhaustion. His grandfather, G. W. Northrup, was at his bedside almost constantly and after death the body was prepared for burial and taken to Powell Saturday afternoon by Mr. Northrup.

The little fellow, was an exceptionally bright and manly lad, and was very popular with his playmates. He was idolized by his relatives, and to them his tragic death is a terrible blow.

The funeral was held at the Powell M. E. church on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock; interment in the Powell cemetery.

ARBITRATORS FIND IN FAVOR OF MRS. BENJAMIN.

Will Receive Pay For Farming Implements Destroyed by Fire.

The case of Mrs. Matilda Benjamin vs. the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance company, was heard before W. E. Lane, Esq., Hon. E. A. Strong and A. P. Watson sitting as arbitrators Tuesday and a verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

A barn belonging to Mrs. Benjamin and located on South Mountain in Asylum township was destroyed by fire on Jan. 23, 1909. Mrs. Benjamin carried insurance on the barn and contents the policy being with the Liverpool, London and Globe company. The loss on the barn was paid quickly, but the company refused to settle for the contents, claiming that they were the property of another party and not Mrs. Benjamin's. The case was threshed over yesterday, and resulted in a verdict for Mrs. Benjamin in the sum of $195 with costs from June 1, 1909.

David E. Kaufman and Rodney A. Mercur represented Mrs. Benjamin, while J. C. Ingham, Esq., represented the defendant insurance company.

Wellsboro Gets Convention.

State highway commissioner, Joseph W. Hunter, addressing the county commissioners of Pennsylvania in annual convention at Gettysburg, reported that up to this time the average cost of a state highway was $9,500 a mile. The convention decided to ask the legislature to provide for the punishment of tramps and making part of the penalty a period of manual labor on the public roads, public works or buildings of the various counties. Bridge building was the subject for discussion for several hours and the re-enforced concrete structure was determined upon as being the most economical and enduring. Wellsboro was chosen over West Chester for the place of holding next year's convention and the time moved one month earlier. The following officers were elected: President, P. H. Dewey, Wellsboro; vice-president, Swithin Shortledge of Landenburg; secretary, Harry A. Stevens of Lock Haven; treasurer, John L. Dunlap of Bellefonte.

Miraculous Escape.

According to the Waverly Free Press, Peter Vought, a young man at Wayland, had a marvelous escape from death the other day. He was driving a team and had a calf tied in his wagon when he was struck by an Erie mail train on a crossing. The wagon was reduced to a mass of splinters, but neither the man or the calf or the horses was seriously hurt. When the train stopped Vought was found clinging to the pilot of the locomotive and though dazed and bruised, he had no serious injury. The calf was found running about in a field on one side of the track, absolutely unhurt, and the horses were loose on the other side of the track and neither was injured.

Caprices of Fate.

While searching along the track for Brakeman Evans, who had been jolted from the train near Austin, Potter county, Engineer Charles Coville, of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad, attempted to step on the pilot of his engine, which Fireman Corwine was running slowly, and was thrown under it and killed. While the men were lifting the dead engineer from under the locomotive, Brakeman Evans, attracted by the lights dragged himself from the bushes where he had been thrown, and came upon the scene. He was not dangerously hurt.

RICKETTS LUMBERMAN VICTIM OF BOLD ROBBER.

Touched For His Wad on South State Street, Wilkes-Barre.

What is said by the Wilkes-Barre police to have been the most daring robbery in that city for some time was perpetrated in broad daylight on South State street about 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon when a foreigner, giving his name as Paul Stancavage, was held up and relieved of his roll containing $23. Detective Jones and Patrolmen Hergert and Philips were placed on the case and succeeding in placing three suspects under arrest and they are now locked up in the station house pending a further investigation. They are believed to have been the perpetrators of the bold affair.

Stancavage claimed his residence was at Ricketts. He was unable to speak good English and it was with considerable difficulty that the authorities were able to understand his complaint. He said he was walking up State street into the Luzerne county capitol, and in front of Kirkendall's barn was approached by three young men, one of whom told him he was going to take his picture. He was told to stand erect after which one of the number pretended he was properly arranging his clothing. Stancavage was then told to stand still and wait until they returned. He did as directed for some time, when it finally occurred to him that there was something suspicious about his supposed friends' actions. Reaching into his pocket he discovered his money gone. He related his trouble to pedestrians and was advised to report to the police.

ANTRIM MINERS' STRIKE IS SETTLED AT LAST.

Signing of a Five-Year Agreement Assures a Long Period of Prosperity.

The miners' strike which had been in progress at Antrim, Tioga County since early last spring, has been settled at last, an agreement between the men and the company having been reached on Saturday. And that the agreement is for five years assures a long period of prosperity for the men of this region. The strike was one of the longest in the history of the coal-mining industry of Tioga county, but it was also one of the most peaceable.

The men, for the most of the time, have been beneficiaries under the rules of the United Mine Workers' organization so that at no time has there been hardship for any of the miners' families. The five-year agreement is a matter of a great deal of satisfaction to both the men and the company, and the season of activity which will be begun at once will, it is assured by this agreement, bring happiness to men and merchants throughout this section.

Coffee Beans.

W. H. Rosengrant, of this place, raised in his garden this year a few coffee beans which when roasted and ground made a drink similar to coffee, and if anything better. Next year he intends to raise a lot of them. They are about three times as strong as ordinary coffee.—Wyoming Democrat.

Nice Lot of Game.

Of all the Towanda hunters who went out on Saturday, J. Andrew Wilt, Esq., and Prof. Herbert S. Putnam were perhaps the most successful. They bagged five squirrels, four grey and one black; one pheasant and three woodcock.

Betting on the Game.

There was considerable betting on the Pittsburg—Detroit baseball game in Towanda on Saturday. Pittsburg was the favorite, although the Tigers had a number of supporters. One well known colored man who calls Towanda home wagered a large flock of chickens that Detroit would win, and today he is chickenless.

A Verbal Speedometer.

Every calling has its technical vocabulary, and those who are familiar with it are often surprised and irritated at the difficulty other people have in understanding it. A writer in the New York World tells of an old horseman in Maine who had run over a man and was being sued for damages.

The court asked the defendant if he was driving fast. He answered, "I was going a pace." The court then said, "Now, kindly tell the gentlemen of the jury just how fast you were going."

"Well," said the defendant, "I reckon I was going a clip."

"Well, will you tell the jury how fast a clip is?"

"Well, it's going a dite."

"Now, will you tell the jury how fast a dite is?"

"Well, a dite's a dite. Anybody

TOWANDA HUNTERS BRING IN NICE LOT OF GAME.

Some of the Nimrods Do a Marathon Walk, But None Violate Law.

Towanda nimrods, the mighty hunters of the City of Promise, ushered in the hunting season on Friday and Saturday in a very proper manner. The first two days of the season was the occasion for the early rising of many of the gunners, and the fields and woods for miles around were given a thorough thrashing by men and dogs.

Some of the nimrods did a Marathon jaunt and thought nothing of it, but none violated the game laws. Following is a list of the hunters, and the game they secured, which shows that some of them were very successful:

F. D. Montanye.....2 pheasants
W. J. Ruggles 2pheasants
Dr. C. S. Means.....4 squirrels
S. C. Moore.....6 squirrels
Thomas Scott.....1 sparrow
Harry E. Post .....1 pheasant
L. M. Osborne.....5 squirrels
G. B. Winters.....3 squirrels
Ed. Hoffman.....3 squirrels
Charles Ross .....6 squirrels
W. D. Gillette.....2 squirrels
Lester Gillette.....1 squirrel
George T. Smeaton.....1 owl
S. H. Smith, Esq.....got back
W. F. Dittrich and A. G. Delpeuch .....6 quail and 1 duck.
William Moore.....2 quail
Willard Shiner.....2 quail
J. R. Cowell.....6 squirrels
Waldo Lyon.....same
W. W. Lyon.....one or more
Jerry Shay.....same

Stewart Putnam and A. Carl Fanning walked 37 miles, and as there was no scorekeeper with them, the amount of game they secured can only be estimated which places the number at 6 squirrels each, 6 pheasants each, and three or several bear.

George T Smeaton played in the hardest kind of luck. He wore out a pair of half soles, and succeeded in bagging one fine grouse, which when cleaned and ready for the cook proved to be an owl.

Thomas Scott, was also unfortunate. He traveled something like 15 miles, burned up a lot of powder, and while tired and discouraged started to shoot at a target. A sparrow crossed his range, and received the contents of both barrels, causing fatal injuries.

In the list it will be noticed that Frank D. Montanye and W. J. Ruggles are each credited with two pheasants. The two gentlemen brought home two birds but which of the two shot the two and is entitled to the two credits is not known.

The hunters report squirrels as being quite plentiful, but very wild. A strong wind was blowing on Saturday, and this helped the game to escape.

Will Sue Street Railway Company.

James McKay of Canton, will bring suit against the street car company of Syracuse to redeem damages for the killing of Mrs. McKay and the serious injury to himself and destruction of his automobile in that city recently. It is alleged that the motorman was to blame for the accident and if he had had the car under control that he could have stopped it before it struck the automobile.

Case Settled.

The suit between Maud B. Barnhart of Springville, Pa., and the Trexler & Turrell Lumber company of Ricketts, Sullivan county, for damages on the death of her husband, Andrew J. Barnhart, who was killed on April 19, 1909, at Ricketts, by a boiler explosion, has been settled, the widow receiving a nice sum of money.

CANDIDATES SISSON AND STOBER VISIT TOWANDA.

Many People Paid Their Respects to the Republican State Candidates.

Hon. E. A. Sisson, candidate for auditor general, on the Republican ticket, ex-Senator J. A. Stober, candidate for state treasurer on the same ticket, accompanied by Hon. Alexander McDowell, clerk of the House of Representatives at Washington, D. C., arrived in Towanda Tuesday morning on the 10:50 train and remained here until 6 p. m., when they left for Williamsport over the S. & N. Y. Among the other prominent Republicans from a distance were Congressman Pratt of Susquehanna county, and Senator Shields of Wyoming.

Instead of a public meeting and speeches at the opera house, a reception was held at the Ward house during the day and many Towanda citizens as well as a large number of people from all partts of the county called to pay their respects. Both Senator Sisson and ex-Senator Stober were well pleased with their reception at Towanda. They met many of the leading Republicans of the county and their genial hearty greeting to all left a most pleasing impression upon both Republican and Democrats with whom they came in contact. Major McDowell, who has visited Towanda twice before, received a warm welcome by old friends. His never failing humor and funny stories make him a most entertaining companion.

All of these gentlemen bring most assuring reports from all parts of the state they have visited. While the excitement and enthusiasm of closely contested campaigns are lacking this year, there is, they say, an intelligent appreciation by voters of the issues involved in the coming election. While the large majorities of former years may be somewhat reduced there is no question of the results. The whole ticket will be overwhelmingly elected.

HOW HARRY S. GODCHARLES WAS DROWNED IN NEVADA.

Misstep in Darkness Causes Fall Into Deep Pool of Water.

Particulars concerning the drowning in Nevada on Sept. 26, of Harry S. Godcharles, formerly of Towanda, have just been received.

He was drowned near McGill, Nevada, on Sunday night, Sept. 26, by falling in the dark into a large, deep pool either by the bank caving in suddenly under his weight or from a narrow bridge. Searching parties scoured the country but without success until Saturday when his body was found wedged between rocks near the scene of his drowning.

Terrible Red Patches on Face and Arms Made Victim Ashamed to be Seen—Suffered Intensely for Ten Months—Expert Treatment Gave No Relief—Two Sets of the

CUTICURA REMEDIES ENTIRELY CURED HER

"About two years ago I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them as the last resource, and I am very glad that I did, for after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies (Soap, Ointment and Pills), and I am completely cured. I always recommend Cuticura to any one that is suffering and in every case it seems to cure. Miss Barbara Kral, 629 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Highlandtown, Md., Jan. 9, '08."

For Lame Back

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates—without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 9th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back all around my stomach was just as if I had been beaten with a club. I used every plaster I could get with no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. J. P. EVANS, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

Sloan's Liniment has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints.
